The military members of the NSC in Pakistan are fewer in number - four military, nine civil - but have greater power, which can be attributed to the military's traditional control of power politics.) The Turkish military also possesses a huge presence in the society and the economy Public surveys have been supportive of the armed forces, which is attributable to their popularity as well as ...

Military Inc.: Inside Pakistan's Military Economy - SILO.PUB
This realization has been the dominant thought within the military in Pakistan. In Military Inc., Pakistani strategic analyst Dr. Ayesha Siddiqa makes an elaborate study of Milbus, a concept she defines as the "military capital that is used for the personal benefit of the military fraternity but is neither recorded nor part of the defence budget" - an economy based on the Pakistani military's booming commercial enterprise. Dr.

Military Inc.: Inside Pakistan's Military Economy (Paperback Pluto Press, 2007) Pakistan occupies a paradoxical, even contradictory place in American foreign policy. Nominally a strategic ally in the war on terror, it is the third-largest recipient of US aid in the world. At the same time, it is run by its military and intelligence service—whose goals certainly do not always overlap with US priorities.
